

GDPR Policy

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) is a new data protection law that came into effect on May 25, 2018. The GDPR replaces the 1995 EU Data Protection Directive and strengthens the rights of individuals with regards to their personal data.

At Cobra, we are committed to protecting the privacy of our clients and customers and to complying with the GDPR. This GDPR Policy explains how we collect, use, and share personal data about you when you use our website, www.cobrauksecurity.co.uk, or any other online or mobile services, applications, or sites offered by us (collectively, the "Services").

By using the Services, you agree to the collection, use, and sharing of your personal data as described in this GDPR Policy. If you do not agree with our policies and practices, do not use the Services.

Information We Collect

We may collect personal data about you in a variety of ways, including:

- Information you provide to us: We may collect personal data that you provide to us directly, such as your name, email address, phone number, and other contact information.
- Information we collect automatically: When you use the Services, we may automatically collect certain personal data about your device and your use of the Services. This personal data may include your IP address, device type, unique device identifier, browser type, and other technical information.
- Information we collect from third parties: We may also collect personal data about you from third parties, such as social media platforms.

Use of Your Personal Data

We may use the personal data we collect about you for a variety of purposes, including:

- To provide and improve the Services: We may use your personal data to provide and improve the Services, including to personalize your experience, to communicate with you, and to respond to your requests.
- To communicate with you: We may use your personal data to send you updates, newsletters, and other communications. You may opt out of receiving these communications at any time.
- To comply with legal obligations: We may use your personal data as necessary to comply with legal obligations, such as to respond to legal process or to protect the rights, property, or safety of Cobra Training Provider or others.

Sharing of Your Personal Data

We may share your personal data in the following ways:

- With third-party service providers: We may share your personal data with third-party service providers who perform services on our behalf, such as hosting, analytics, marketing, and payment processing.
- With legal authorities: We may disclose your personal data to legal authorities if required to do so by law or if we believe that such action is necessary to protect the rights, property, or safety of Cobra Training Provider or others.
- With third parties for business purposes: We may share your personal data with third parties for business purposes, such as to offer you products or services that may be of interest to you.

Your Rights Under the GDPR

Under the GDPR, you have the following rights with regard to your personal data:

- The right to be informed: You have the right to be informed about the collection and use of your personal data.
- The right of access: You have the right to request access to your personal data and to obtain information about how we process it.
- The right to rectification: You have the right to request that we correct any inaccurate personal data about you.
- The right to erasure: You have the right to request that we erase your personal data in certain circumstances.
- The right to restrict processing: You have the right to request

Sarah Carvell

Policy Creation Date: 03/01/2023, Review Date 03/01/2024